

Adding value to your home

TOUCHING UP

Keeping up with the maintenance around your home can make a huge difference when it comes to selling your home one day. Regular up keep will prevent things in your home from deteriorating. Couple of things you should consider fixing that could benefit your home would be: a fresh lick of paint, repair of cracked tiles, replaces faulty door handles.

KERB APPEAL

The driveway and front garden are very important when it comes to first impressions. Check your paving slabs are they cracked? Maybe a fresh coat of paint on the fence and mowing the lawns so they are neat and tidy. You should also make sure the backyard is just the same!

KITCHEN UPDATE

The kitchen is a very important area inside your home. Some people call this the heart of the home as it is the main hub. Modernizing and updating your kitchen will be a huge benefit and more appealing to buyers. If you have a older home, its always a great idea to think about replacing appliances and changing the layout of the kitchen.

KEEPING WARM WITH INSULATION

Insulation is very important as these days it is considered as an absolute necessity for potential home buyers. EECA Energywise programme often subsidize the cost of insulation, so there's no reason not to insulate your property.
